

Homeowners! Don't pay for the same job twice! Use a licensed contractor!

South Carolina Association of Heating and Air Conditioning Contractors

Did you know?

If you use an unlicensed person or company to install your HVAC system, and they get hurt on your property, you could be liable?

The State of South Carolina requires a person to be licensed by the state to install your HVAC systems?

Your energy savings you think you are getting with high efficiency equipment may not be there if your system is installed improperly, costing you more money?

If local codes official catches an unlicensed contractor working on your home - the job may be shut down.

...Use a licensed contractor and a member of the SCAHACC!

We urge you to deal with licensed contractors and members of the SC Association of Heating and AC Contractors (SCAHACC) for several reasons:

- 1) All members are licensed by the State of South Carolina
- 2) Members have received training in proper measuring and sizing of equipment and duct design
- 3) Members abide by and conform to a professional code of conduct.
They agree to...

- Maintain strict compliance with all laws, regulations and ordinances pertaining to the HVAC industry and business operations prescribed by federal, state, county and municipal governments.

- Design, install, service and repair heating, ventilation, air conditioning and refrigeration systems in accordance with accepted industry standards.

- Develop and maintain an understanding of proper equipment selection to assure customers of safe, dependable, and comfortable performance.

- Ensure that quality, honesty, integrity, and good faith are hallmarks of contractors' business practices, including individual contractor sales, advertising, installations and service of HVAC systems.

- Maintain a clean, safe, respectable and well-identified place of business commensurate with the high standards of the profession.

- Develop the highest quality standards of customer service and nurture long-term relationships with customers.
